Who the heck is Dusty?

It's been said that people come into our lives for a "reason" or a "season". On rare occasions a person might enter our lives for both. Dusty was one of those people. He was first, a customer... someone who showed up often, ordered his two beers, left his $4 tip and went home. He was a "regular"... someone you could count on to "be there". He was then, a friend... someone with whom we could talk about things that mattered; someone who shared his passions and dreams with us - and who listened to ours; someone who checked on us if we were sick and cared about what we were doing with our lives. He was, finally, a mentor...someone from whom we always learned something (if we listened); someone who was well-educated, well-informed & well-spoken; someone who was part of this establishment before we ever hung our shingle. Dusty entered our lives for a season. Though he is gone he will not be forgotten. He entered for a reason, one which is still being defined. But he had a vision - one that included us- & so we honor this customer, this friend, this mentor, by including him in ours.
